A California astronomer says he has discovered 100 pairs of new double stars. Perhaps he has acquired the habit of seeing things double.

The owners of the Hygeia Hotel at Old Point Comfort, who have been notified to move it from the Government reservation, will solve the difficulty by floating it across the water eight miles.

When "Tommy Atkins" comes home from Africa Gen. Kitchener hopes he will not be given an alcoholic reception. He probably thinks that a roast beef and plum pudding reception would be more filling, more substantial and better.

Massachusetts is proud of her eminence as the leading shoemaker of the country. Out of the total product of the country in 1900, valued at $261,028,580 she turned out $117,115,243 worth. Massachusetts wants untariff-taxed leather.

Andrew Carnegie, the twelve-year-old nephew of the gentleman who is trying not to die rich, was one of the special delivery boys in the Pittsburg postoffice until the other day, when he inaugurated and led a strike by the boys. The strike failed, and now Andrew is hunting another job.

Lieutenant Hobson seems to be having about all he can attend to in the courting line. In one day, July 26th, dispatches reported him to be engaged or thereabouts to seven girls, strung along from Texas to Oregon, swinging around, taking in five other States, and he never "rescued" one of them.

A Texas paper says the cure for bodily ailments is to eat sixteen Alberta peaches a day as long as you can get them and "fill your bunker on the seventh day with a forty-pound" watermelon. We should think that a fellow who could "bunker" a forty-pound watermelon wouldn't need a prescription for anything except his ravenous hankering for w. m.

Boston seems to be having a rough time. In addition to the "black terror," which makes it unsafe for women to venture out after dark, there is a Jack-the-Slugger, who sneaks around waiting the opportunity to hit a woman on the head with an ugly club which he carries. In the past six weeks he has knocked down four, fracturing the skull of one. He seems to have a mania for clubbing, as he does nothing more.

DESPERATE ENCOUNTER WITH BOLD BURGLAR.

Early This Morning Ex-Mayor Harriss Had Trying Experience With White Man in His Residence.

Ex-mayor W. N. Harriss, who lives three doors from the City Hall, on Third street, had a desperate encounter with a white burglar whom he found in the dining room of his residence this morning at 2 o'clock.

About the hour indicated, Mr. Harriss was awakened by a shower of rain which came on and hearing a noise downstairs, he at once armed himself with a revolver and a baseball bat, which he has been keeping the past several weeks for just such an emergency, and crept downstairs. He stopped near the dining room door and listened, to make sure some one was in the house. His suspicion having been confirmed by the rattling of dishes, he jerked opened the door and came face to face with a white man at whom he lost no time in snapping his pistol three times. Seeing Mr. Harriss' determination, the intruder ran around the table and grappled with him, tearing a sleeve out of Mr. Harris' shirt. At this stage of the proceeding Mr. Harriss dropped the useless pistol, which had failed to fire, and swung hard at the burglar with the bat. The stranger dodged the blow, which fell heavily against the dining-room door, and made his escape out of the window he had just entered by means of a step-ladder. Police Sergeant Smith made an investigation but found to clue.

Later this morning a man was arrested and locked up in the city prison who was identified by Mr. Harriss as the burglar. He refused to give his name.

LOCAL DOTS.

— The cotton platform on the north side of the Champion Compress is being re-laid.

— Twenty-three bales of old crop cotton were received on the local market yesterday.

— The New York steamer and schooner Jeanie Lippitt passed out at Southport, 9:50 A. M. yesterday.

— The regular monthly meeting of the County Board of Education will be held Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

— Rev. Walter N. Johnson will conduct services at the usual hours at the First Baptist church to-day. There will be a special musical programme.

— "Pharoah's Compromises" will be the subject of Rev. J. L. Vipperman's talk to young men at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. All men are invited.

— Mr. W. G. T. Keen, janitor of the Atlantic Yacht Club, reported a four-masted schooner off Wrightsville beach yesterday morning. Her name was not discernible.

— The familiar clang of the gong of the "Black Maria" was heard yesterday afternoon for the first time. It was used in conveying a prisoner from Front street market.

— Merchants on Front street are "kicking" about the streets in that vicinity being swept in the early morning. Yesterday a number of stores had to close on account of the dust.

— An excursion run by the Excelsior Club, colored, of Charleston, will reach here at 11:45 P. M. to-day and return Tuesday at 3:45 P. M. Separate coaches will be provided for white persons.

— Mrs. W. E. McLaughlin, of Jackson, Miss., will sing at the First Baptist church Sunday night. There is a great treat in store for the music loving people of Wilmington, for Mrs. McLaughlin is said to be one of the sweetest singers in the south.

Two Brand New Excursions.

Always on the alert for something new to please his patrons, Capt. Jno. W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, has arranged two delightful excursions for Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week, which are bound to be popular. Instead of going down the river, as has been the custom of late, the steamer will make special trips on those nights up the Cape Fear river fifteen miles to the Magnolia tree, which has become famous as a picnic site. There will be music on board and, as everybody knows who has taken one of these trips during the Summer, the scenery by moonlight will be lovely. The fare is 20 cents for the round trip.

In Savannah's Interest.

General Superintendent W. B. Denham, of the Atlantic Coast Line at Savannah, arrived in the city Friday night in his private car, and yesterday laid before General Manager Jno. R. Kenly a petition of the Savannah Retail Merchants' Association asking that there be no further diminution of the office and shop force of the system in that city. All the trade bodies of Savannah have taken up the question of removals and it's a lively time they are having down there over the subject. Supt. Denham expected to go from Wilmington to Kennebunkport, Me., to spend a short while with his family who are summering there.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

August Term Will Be Convened Monday for Trial of Criminal Cases.

JUDGE BRYAN PRESIDING.

No Morning Session Will Be Held—Solicitor Duffy Arrived—Thirty-five Cases on the Docket, But None of Great Importance.

The August term of the New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases only will convene Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and remain in session for a week, if the length of the docket and importance of cases thereon demands it.

Judge Henry R. Bryan, of Newbern, will preside, and he will reach the city on the noon train over the W. and N. railroad. Solicitor Duffy, accompanied by his wife, arrived in the city yesterday, and is getting his docket in shape for the opening of the term.

There are 35 cases on the docket and about half the defendants in same are in jail. As is usually the case the jail cases will be taken up first, and that institution cleared of its "boarders." Seven of the 35 cases on the docket are for larceny, but there are no charges of a more serious nature. It is expected that the work of the term can be accomplished in three days at the most. Monday afternoon's session will principally be taken up in the drawing of a grand jury and organizing.

The jurors drawn for the week from whom a grand and petit jury will be selected are as follows:

B. F. King, J. D. Reynolds, S. H. Mintz, Montie Hewett, Morris Greenblott, I. J. Sternberger, G. W. Duncan, N. B. Chadwick, Henry E. Bonitz, W. B. Jones, E. T. Jewell, J. T. Burke, John W. Harper, Jr., T. M. Justice, John W. Reilly, Virginius Hall, E. N. Penny, Lucien L. Bland, John M. Wright, J. S. Canady, A. H. Robbins, H. G. Smallbones, Charles H. O'Berry, E. J. Littleton, Isadore Bear, A. H. Benson S. R. Ellis, Jas. S. Murphy, J. L. Callihan, S. L. Smith, Joshua G. Skipper, Warren S. Johnson, E. J. Lanier, J. J. Jordan, W. L. Parsley and Walter Bergen.

TELEPHONE POLICE ALARMS

Three Were Stationed Yesterday in Remote Sections of the City.

Boxes for the three police telephone alarms for which provision was recently made in the budget for the city's annual expenses, were yesterday placed at convenient locations in the out-lying districts of the city, where it is sometimes difficult for policemen to get at a 'phone to communicate with persons at the station. The Bell 'phone will be used and under the direction of Chief Furlong the alarms have been placed at Tenth and Market, Fourth and Nixon and Seventh and Nun streets.

Each policeman on the force will have a key which will open either of the boxes and at any hour of the night it will be no trouble to communicate with headquarters for desired information. The 'phones will be placed in the boxes Monday.

Pleasant Bowling Party.

One of the most pleasant of the social happenings at the beach during the past week was a bowling party given at the Seashore Hotel Friday evening by Mr. Culpepper Exum, of Mobile, Ala., in compliment to Miss Whiting, of Mobile. Among the guests were Misses Mabel Powers and Lucy Newman, of Atlanta; Misses Sue Clark and Nan Clark, of Tarboro, N. C.; Miss Whiting, of Mobile; Misses Marie and Edna Baldwin, of Annapolis, Md.; Mrs. Shaw, of Mobile; Miss Ella May Rankin, of Wilmington, and Messrs. Moorhead, of Pittsburg, Pa., J. K. Williams, Thos. B. Willard, Morgan Turrentine, A. S. Bayles, Hunter, U. M. Robinson and Preston C. Cummings, Jr. The first prizes were won by Mr. Willard and Mr. Rankin, while the consolation offerings went to Mr. Turrentine and Miss Baldwin.

Baseball Monday.

Those who enjoy the real article of baseball as dished up by the colored population will have an opportunity Monday afternoon of witnessing a game between the Newbern Excelsiors and the original Black Stockings, of Wilmington. Schenck, the well known colored player who was once with Wilmington, will be with the Newbern team Monday, which comes on Knight's excursion. The two clubs played a game in Newbern July 28th and the Wilmington contingent was victorious in a score of 6 to 2.

Died of Malarial Fever.

Mrs. Eliza M. Canady, wife of Mr. D. C. Canady and a most estimable woman, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock of malarial fever at the family home in this city, Wooster street between Front and Surry. Mrs. Canady was 44 years of age and leaves besides the husband, one son and three daughters. The remains, accompanied by Mr. Canady and son, were taken to Whiteville yesterday afternoon on the 3:45 train for interment near that place.

Died on Masonboro.

William Farrow, a young man who lived on Mr. C. F. VonKampen's place on Masonboro Sound, died Friday night of consumption. He was 23 years of age. The funeral will take place to-day. The interment will be on the sound.

COAST LINE STEAMER "MARGARET" IN PORT.

On Her Way from Tampa to Pinner's Point, She Arrived Yesterday for Coal and Supplies.

The handsome passenger steamer Margaret, which was recently acquired by the Atlantic Coast Line in the absorption of the Plant System, arrived in port yesterday morning from Port Tampa, Fla., for coal and other supplies. She filled her bunkers with coal at the Coast Line chute and expected to proceed last midnight for Pinner's Point, Va., where she will enter the service of her new owners, the "greater" Coast Line.

The Margaret has been running on the river between Tampa and Manatee, Florida. She is a very handsome double-deck ship and attracted much admiration as she glided along the water front yesterday. She was built in Newport News, Va., in 1896 and is 176 feet long, 26 feet wide and draws 7½ feet of water. Her hull is of steel and she is known in river parlance as a "side-wheeler." She is handsomely furnished and has her saloons and passenger cabins on the second deck. Ample deck room is provided for 200 passengers and she has three state rooms and 14 berths for night travel. Capt. Alexander Harvey, of Tampa, is her master and a crew of 17 men is carried. The steamer has a perfect electric system and also has a powerful search light.

The Margaret left Tampa Tuesday a week ago and has proceeded leisurely up the coast, her captain selecting favorable weather from port to port. It is said, however not officially, that she will be used as a ferry boat between Pinner's Point and Norfolk for the Atlantic Coast Line. The handsome vessel is named for the widow of the late H. B. Plant, who controlled the magnificent system of railways bearing his name until a few months ago.

DIDN'T BURN THE POSTOFFICE.

Reported Smallpox at Newbern Erroneous. Probably Applied to Newport.

Capt. H. D. Burkhimer, railway postal clerk between Wilmington and Newbern, arrived in the city at noon yesterday. He says the people of Newbern were much wrought up over the news contained in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington yesterday morning that the Postoffice Department had been requested to burn the postoffice building at Newbern because it was reported the postmaster had the smallpox.

"We people over there," said Capt. Burkhimer," have a $75,000 postoffice building and the idea of sticking fire to that was preposterous—so preposterous, in fact, that everybody at once knew it was a mistake; probably made in giving out the news at Washington, Superintendent Dill's telegram to the Department having been dated at Newbern, but applying to Newport, a small town in Carteret county, where the conditions complained of no doubt existed."

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Vote to Which Each County in the Sixth District is Entitled.

The following table shows the popular vote cast for Aycock for Governor in the several counties of the Sixth Congressional District and the vote to which each county will be entitled in the Congressional convention to be held at Fayetteville, August 20th. On all questions on which a vote by counties is demanded the counties will be called alphabetically.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED

Cyrus Thomas, Son of Well Known Contractor, in a Watery Grave.

BATHING IN THE RIVER.

Practicing With a Boat at Foot of Queen Street, He Went Too Far from the Shore Yesterday Afternoon—Piteous Cries for Help.

While bathing in the river at foot of Queen street yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Cyrus Thomas, aged 18 years and a son of the well known contractor, Mr. John Thomas, of the firm of Thomas & Rogers, was drowned under most unfortunate circumstances.

At a late hour last night the body had not been recovered from the water.

Young Mr. Thomas, with several companions of about his own age, went in the water early in the afternoon. Just before the drowning occurred all the bathers had come out of the river, put on their clothing and gone away. Young Thomas was an expert swimmer and was amusing himself with a boat which he kept at the Queen street dock. He would push the small craft out in the stream, swim to it and bring it back to the wharf for another trial. He was also practicing falling overboard from the boat; recovering possession of it and bringing it back to the wharf.

It was on one of these trials that he lost his life. The tide was running down stream swiftly and the wind was directly opposite. In pushing the boat from him, it got beyond his reach and he made a superhuman effort to recover it and went far out into the stream where the water was from 25 to 30 feet in depth. When he found it useless to swim further for the boat, he started back to the wharf, but he had gone too far and very soon realized his peril. He cried aloud to a number of men working on some scows in the government yards, but before they could do anything to save him he went down for the last time. Messrs. J. R. Brown, Robert Robbins, Frank Lewis and J. R. Newton were among those on the government yard who saw the young man drown, but were powerless to save him. Messrs. Frank King and Kelly Smith heard cries from the second story of the factory of the American Textile Coloring Co., and they reached the window in time to see him drown 100 feet from the shore.

Mr. J. W. Willis and other friends of the family dragged for the body in three boats until a late hour last night but the search was fruitless.

Young Thomas was a bright fellow and popular in the neighborhood in which he lived. He was once a member of the Boys' Brigade and had charge of a delivery wagon for the Holmes Grocery Co. At the time of his death he was a member of the crew of the revenue cutter Algonquin, lately stationed here, and was on furlough, having recently been badly scalded on the ship by the overturning of a coffee urn. He had only a short time been out of the hospital.

He leaves a sadly bereaved mother and father, two sisters and two brothers, Messrs. Harry and John Thomas, the first named being employed in the office of the Southern Express Co., in this city. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

News of the Injured.

Favorable reports as to the condition of all who were injured in the wreck at Carolina Beach Wednesday night, were given out yesterday and the news was received with much gratification by many friends. Young Mr. Wade Hampton Smith is still at the hospital and doing remarkably well. His father, mother and brother visited the injured young man yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and found him very cheerful indeed. Several of the injured ones will be out again next week.

To View the Ruins.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded the public to-day to visit the ruins of the old pavilion building at Carolina Beach, which was wrecked by the storm Wednesday night. The steamer Wilmington will make her usual trips at 9:30 A. M. and 2:30 P. M., and passengers will have their choice of going through to Southport. The trip to the pier at 7:45 P. M., affording two hours of delightful breeze for 15 cents, will be on the schedule as usual.

Front Street Second Adventists.

During the past six weeks twenty-eight members have been added to the roll of the Front Street Second Advent Church and the congregation otherwise built up. Eight of this number will be baptized at Greenfield mill pond this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. W. D. Beckam is pastor, and services are held each Sunday at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.; Sunday school at 3:30 P. M. The Ladies' Helping Hand Society meets just after Sunday school each Sabbath.

Big Up-Country Excursion.

Mr. Frank Gough, the well known excursion manager of Lumberton, expects to bring down a large party for the seashore Monday evening at 6 o'clock. The train will come from Rutherfordton, N. C., and the visitors will remain until Tuesday night. Almost the entire party will go for a trip down the river and out to sea Tuesday morning leaving the city at 7:30 o'clock.

FEMALE "SCRAPPERS" HIDEOUS IN DROSS NECK.

A Free-for-All-Fight in Which Colored Woman Was Stabbed in the Head. Arrests Followed.

Betsie Mills and Mary Carter, both colored, were landed in the station house by Hall Officer H. W. Howell yesterday afternoon charged with engaging in an affray at Second and Brunswick streets.

They were making things hideous in the neighborhood of "Dross Neck," when Lula Curtis, colored, appeared at the police station, bleeding and very much excited. She had received decidedly the bitter end of the fight and wanted the "lay out" arrested, which was accomplished in short order by Officer Howell.

The Curtis woman at the outset engaged in a fight with Mary Carr and for the first few rounds, the former had the advantage. Betsie Mills, who was an interested witness, saw her friend, Mary Carr, about to be whipped and she took a hand. Lula Curtis was knocked down a time or two and stabbed in the head with a knife.

The affray will have an airing in Mayor pro tem Cooper's court to-morrow.

CARPENTERS AT SOUTHPORT.

Local Union No. 899 With Families and Friends Had a Delightful Outing.

It was a royal time the carpenters of Local Union No. 899, their friends and families, had on the excursion on the steamer Compton to Southport and return Friday night, and the occasion will linger long and most pleasantly in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to "take in" the festivities.

At Southport the party was received most cordially by Southport Union No. 1,210 and a sumptous banquet was included in the "programme of exercises." Mr. Eugene S. Odell, of New York, general organizer of the order, was along as a special guest, and both unions enjoyed a pleasant speech from him. Mr. J. E. Smith, of Wilmington, also made a splendid talk which was listened to with pleasure and profit.

The party returned to the city at 1:30 o'clock.

Schooner "City of Baltimore."

The schooner City of Baltimore, in charge of that clever craftsmaster, Capt. Tawes, arrived in port yesterday from New York with cargo of cement for Roger Moore's Sons & Co. Capt. Tawes is a Virginian by birth and brings along with him this trip as his guests, Masters Jefferson and Harry Walton, of Olney Station, Va. They are the captain's kinsmen and had fine sport on the voyage down. Capt. Tawes says during Wednesday night's storm, he was nearly off Carolina Beach and never saw a harder blow in his life. That was no ordinary storm which the residents of the beach experienced.

The Standard Oil Barges.

Standard Oil barge No. 91, reported yesterday ashore three miles down the river, was floated at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the tug Standard in tow of which she came from New York and the tug Marion having pulled on her. The barge was gotten off the shoal Friday night, but before she could be gotten in the channel she sunk in the mud again and had to wait on higher tide yesterday afternoon. The barge 76 brought a cargo of gasolene and 91 had a supply of kerosene for the local branch of the company in this city.

SUN'A MORNING, AUGUST 10

THAT IOWA FAKE.

The Republican organs are trying to humbug their readers into the belief that the Republican Convention of Iowa meant what it said when it promulgated its utterances on tariff revision, trusts and discrimination by railroads. They try to make it appear that these declarations express the sentiments of the masses of Republicans throughout the country. The Indianapolis, Ind., Journal, one of the leading papers in the West, chips in as follows:

The mass of the Republican party believes that if any schedules of the present tariff are turned by manufacturers to the disadvantage of the American people they should be changed. They believe that Congress should prevent favoritism in the way of freight rates to a few, and, if further legislation is needed, that it should be enacted at once. In short, the Iowa platform is the latest and best considered of Republican belief and aspiration.

This is not a fair nor honest statement of what the Iowa platform declares. It didn't declare that legislation "to prevent favoritism should be enacted at once," but "from time to time" when such legislation might be "advisable," without specifying any time or any prospective time. The time might come in the estimation of the framers of this platform and of those whose sentiments it expressed in five, ten, twenty or more years or never, so noncommittal it is as to time. It is, therefore, not in accord with the "Republican belief and aspirations," if the Journal voices that belief and those aspirations. But the probabilities are that it is playing a a bunco game on its readers as the politicians in the Iowa convention were when they adopted that platform.

But they are not fooling many people with that fake, because it isn't in keeping with their actions when they had an opportunity to show that they were in accord with these declarations, when by doing something on that line they might justify the belief that they might do something more when "advisable." We have quoted some of the comments of independent papers on this fake, and herewith present another from the New York Times, suggested by the above extract from the Journal. It says:

It is quite useless to talk of belief and aspiration. The responsible and controlling leaders of the Republican party stand ready to throttle and subdue tariff reform beliefs and aspirations in whatever quarter they may be exhibited. The leaders look upon any and all attempts to change the Dingley schedules as dangerous. They will unitedly resist them. Whatever State conventions may do or Republican newspapers say, the Senators who hold in their hands the life or death of tariff bills will pronounce for death every time.

The Iowa Republicans and the Indianapolis Journal seem not to know what they ask. Republican leaders in the Senate know perfectly well. The attempt to pass a bill striking off duties which are availed of by American manufacturers to maintain monopolies and oppress the consumer would result in an ugly scandal. That was demonstrated by the behavior of the beet-sugar men. The Cuban Reciprocity bill provided for only a trifling reduction of the duty that protects them, but they fought like wildcats against it. They would have fought still more savagely and would have exhibited a still more reckless and hostile spirit had they not become convinced quite early in the fight that they were going to succeed.

The protected interests and the Republican leaders are bound together by ties such as those which link men who have conspired for and accomplished a criminal purpose. The alliance has been the cloak of political corruption and immorality. If the Republican Senators should desert and turn against the men who have bought these rich tariff favors, the protected trusts and corporations, or some of them, would quickly turn State's evidence in revenge. Their rage would be boundless and they would not hesitate about the means of its gratification. The exposure of the iniquities of the Dingley tariff and of the iniquitous method by which it was put together would destroy the Republican party.

Senator Platt of Connecticut knows this, Senator Aldrich knows it. All the Republican Senators foresee and dread the calamity to their party which an attempt to revise the tariff would involve. Congressman Babcock was full of beliefs and aspirations, but even he has been made to take the back track.

The Iowa Republicans demand the impossible. They talk of removing duties which breed monopoly as if they were mere inadvertences of legislation, to be conscientiously corrected as soon as the evil in them was exposed. But the Dingley tariff was drawn up and enacted with full knowledge and deliberate intent to enable the American manufacturer to fleece the American consumer. It was the result of a corrupt compact which the Republican party cannot break without being made to feel the fatal resentment of its betrayed accomplices. There will be no revision of the tariff by the Republicans.

This is to the point. It substantantially asserts that the Iowa tariff revision utterances were a fake, a premeditated fake, that the men who framed this platform knew there would be no tariff revision, and were simply playing this fake to fool Republicans who believe the time has come when there should be tariff reduction. Didn't they know and does not every Republican Congressman know that, "to quote the Journal, "the schedules of the present tariff are turned by the manufacturers to the disadvantage of the American people?" Don't they know that the protected manufacturers sell their goods to other countries at from 25 to 100 per cent. less than they demand and get for them from the American people? They couldn't do this if it were not for the Dingley tariff wall which prevents competition by foreign manufacturers and don't they know that these tariff-fostered trusts strangle home competition to the disadvantage of the American people?

But if the Iowa politicians were honest in their declarations they wouldn't amount to more than waste paper in the Congress of the United States, especially in the Senate, which stands in with the protected manufacturers, with the trusts and with corporations and combines generally. The Republican statesmen agree to differ on some things for effect and then when it comes to the point they hold their differences in abeyance and agree. They get together and pull together as if they had never differed, for the scent of the spoils and "the cohesive power of public plunder" is more potent with them than all the so-called principle this side of the Arctic circle.

As an illustration of the power of the machine, which is lubricated by the protected manufacturers the trusts and other beneficiaries of favoring legislation, note how they muzzled Mr. Babcock, who started out in the last Congress with such a grand flourish as a trust-crusher. He is now actually parroting that old rot about the manufacturers selling their "surplus" abroad cheap to avoid overstocking and demoralizing the home market. He is now actually chiming in with Hanna, Grosvenor and others, who talked that kind of rot and scolded him for going over to the Democratic "free traders." The trusts and combines which run the machine know how to hold down or gag the too free talkers when they find it to their interest to do so.

Hence the man who is fooled by Republican talk about tariff revision and anti-trust legislation has more credulity than any ordinarily level-headed man ought to carry around with him.

NEUTRALIZING GOOD ADVICE.

A few days ago we made commendatory reference to the address of Bishop Gaines at the Negro Young People's Congress in Atlanta. But there were hot heads and fire brands there too, who were there to give something else than good advice. One of these was a sable orator from New Orleans who had his say and achieved some temporary notoriety by taking diametrically the opposite position from that of Bishop Gaines, and defiantly waving a fire brand as a panacea for the negro's complaints. He was a fool, of course, for no man with two grains of sense would have uttered the insane ravings that he did, ravings that would bring chaos, and rnin to the negroes if they attempted to act upon them.

This sable orator who advised the negroes to resort to the terrorizing process, had undoubtedly read the article which appeared in the Chicago Tribune a short while ago on the same line, giving the same counsel, and went to Atlanta filled to the brim with it, but in talking in the silly and rabid way he did he showed that he knew neither the white men of the South nor his own people, and he showed also that he is too stupid to understand and learn from the numerous object lessons we have had on that line since negro emancipation. That kind of advice has been frequently given to negroes in the South, and sometimes they have been foolish enough to act upon it, but they invariably came to grief when they did.

Unfortunately there is a disposition among young and ignorant negroes to listen to just such ravings as this fellow indulged in, and that's where the good advice is to some extent neutralized and harm is done. Such lunatics should be put on ice and cooled thoroughly before they get up as counsellors to advise and speak for their race in any public gathering. They simply seek notoriety, regardless of the harm they do or what that notoriety might cost their race.

DEFEATING THEMSELVES.

Allowing for more or less exaggeration and more or less misrepresentation, perhaps, it is quite apparent that the strike movement in the Pennsylvania coal region has passed beyond the control of the recognized leaders and is now in the hands of the irresponsible and lawless mob, composed almost entirely of foreigners of the worst class—Russians, Poles and Hungarians of the roughest elments, few of whom speak the English language and consequently mingle very little with English-speaking people. The coal mining companies themselves are responsible for the presence in such numbers of these nationalities, whose coming was encouraged by them because they took the places of English-speaking miners and were willing to work for lower wages. These are the men who were to be feared all along and these were the men the strike managers, who found no trouble with the English-speaking miners, have had trouble with from the time they began to feel the pinch of the strike.

Officers in command of the soldiers that have been sent into the mining region say that all the bad feeling shown and all the annoyances they are subjected to come from these imported aliens, while other miners are friendly and the relations between them and the soldiers are cordial. This seems to be borne out by the fact that thus far it is only these foreign elements that have been found fomenting lawlessness and riot and indulging in them

Now they have resorted to persecuting the families of the miners who have gone to work to save their wives and children from starving, to assassinating watchmen, and to the torch. Of course this means the utter forfeiture of any sympathy the people may have had with the strike, for no law-abiding citizen will countenance such outrages, for which there is no excuse or justification. When a strike passes into the hands of the fire-fiend, woman persecutor and assassin it becomes a public menace that ought to be suppressed and the sooner the better.

That Siberian town which globe girdler Dewindt pronounces the most desolate and God-forsaken spot on earth, Srednikolynsk, is the farthest north of any village in the world, just on the Arctic circle. His arrival there was the first communication the villagers had from the outside world in thirty years. What a nice, quiet time they must have. All they have to do is to try to keep warm and find something to eat.

A childless couple in Michigan, tired of the lonely monotony of a childless home, concluded to break it and adopted the whole bunch of twenty-two children in a little orphan asylum.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Cuba, with a population less than Tennessee by a half million people, is about to acquire a public debt of $35,000,000, with more in prospect. Shrewd and long-sighted observers see the finish of the young republic, and that, too, not far ahead.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

—— Forty-two out of the sixty-six counties of the State report a total registration of 121,882. In the same proportion the registered vote for the whole State would be 190,000. This is practically a white registration, for the negroes registered will not number more than 5,000.—Mobile Register, Dem.

—— It has been calculated that out of the 95,000 voters in South Carolina, fully 2,000 are candidates for offices, State, county and municipal. That is a pretty large proportion, but if there were any way of making more offices there would certainly be many more candidates. There is no fear that the dear people will ever suffer from a lack of patriots willing to serve them.—Charleston Post, Ind.

—— The Republican campaign book might have gone a step further and called attention to the way in which the big corporations are watering their stock as another evidence of prosperity. It never does for a corporation to pay too heavy dividends, you know, and they seldom do it when it is just as easy to cut them in half by making two shares of stock show where one showed before.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

THE SINGERS.

Each has his place amid the throngs.
Some to toil in the busy hive,
Some to be driven and some to drive,
And some to sing their songs

Each one is useful in his sphere,
He who delves in the fruitful earth,
He who adds unto the world's mirth
And its wealth of hope and cheer.

Some at the forge and some in the mine,
Some to toil in the counting room
And some to lighten the hours of gloom
By words of love divine.

Some to minister to disease,
Some to instruct and some to preach,
Some to charm with the gifts of speech
And some with melodies.

Some to shine and some to plod,
Some to walk with the rich and great,
Some to rule in affairs of state,
And some tell of God.

None more worthy than the rest
Who honestly strive with the gifts they hold,
The gifts within them to unfold,
And give the world their best.

Some to create in the realm of Art,
Some to relieve the suffering,
Some to labor and some to sing
The songs within the heart.

SUNDAY SELECTIONS.

— Obedience is the bond of rule.—Tennyson.

— No ambition is fully realized, at least, not in this neither world, and no paradise becomes earthly in our age.—Victor Hugo.

— In this age of skepticism the church is a living witness that there is a divine power which controls our destiny.—Rev J. G. Vose.

— Faith is a hand whereby the soul lays actual hold on the unseen realities, and so learns to sit loosely and to detach itself from that which only belongs to time.

— There is only one way to be happy and that is to make somebody else so; and you can't be happy crosslots; you have got to go the regular turnpike road.—

— The love of God melts down the unlovely heart in man, and begets in him the new creature, who is patient, humble, gentle and unselfish. And there is no mystery about it. We love others, we love everybody, we love our enemies, because He first loved us.

— Such knowledge have I of the actual blessedness and wonder of this present life that I believe there are some good things here which, if we do not take them now, in all the ranges of existence we shall have no opportunity to find again what we have carelessly let slip.—John White Chadwick.

— See that your thoughts are pure and your deeds noble. Use the experiences of life, whether they be of joy or sorrow, as steps in an upward climb. There is only one thing you can carry into eternity—your character. See that it is what it should be and the jasper gates will gladly swing open to give you a welcome.—Great Thoughts.

— One of the most foolish things a man can do is to recklessly invade the territory of temptation. Such presumption is rarely followed by the erection of a triumphal arch. The Christian shows his greatest spiritual power in his ability not to conquer but to keep away from temptation. Our Master recognized this truth when He taught us to pray, "Lead us not into temptation."—Raleigh Christian Advocate.

— Greensboro Telegram: The fifteen-year-old son of Rev. C. E. M. Raper, of Guilford College station, while hauling brick from Kirkpatrick's brickyard, two miles north of this city, to Guilford last Monday, was held up by a masked white highwayman and relieved of about five dollars. The boy was traveling a by-road through the woods at the time, and readily delivered up all the money he had when a big revolver was thrust in his face.

That there is something wrong with his master. They have no more romps and rambles. He tries in vain to coax the listless youth from his chair.

When the lungs are diseased, physical weakness soon begins to show itself and the active outdoor life is given up. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the lungs and other organs of respiration. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated may find a fatal termination in consumption.

"After using about five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my boy seems to be all right," writes Mr. J. W. Price, of Ozark, Monroe Co, Ohio. "He was very bad when I commenced to give him the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' The doctors claimed he had consumption and we doctored with them until he was past walking. It has been ten months since he stopped taking your medicine and he is in good health. We are very thankful to you for saving our son."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs. Substitution means a little more profit for the dealer but a loss for you.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Tarboro Southerner: The dry weather has affected corn on some farms to such an extent that the farmers are cutting it down and cutting it up for "long" forage."

— Nashville Graphic: Dr. T. T. Ross informs us that on the 16th day of June he set out a lot of tobacco and just forty-four days after, it had been cured and marketed. The doctor says the crop could have been marketed several days earlier.

— Rocky Mount Spokesman: It is now beyond question that there are 1,003 dwelling houses within the corporate limits of the city of Rocky Mount. Mr. W. E. Jeffreys tells us that he and Mr. R. H. Ricks will in the near future establish a first-class brick, tile and terra cotta plant on the farm of Mr. Jeffreys that lies on the west side af the Coast Line railroad, which will give them good shipping facilities.

— Lumberton Robesonian: It is with regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. Solomon H. Crump, which occurred at his home in East Lumberton Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock. He had suffered for some time with malarial fever, but his condition was not considered critical until within the last few days, when his disease became complicated. —— Crop prospects now are most gratifying and indicate that this will probably be the most prosperous year our section has known at any time within the memory of our oldest citizens. The tobacco crop is by far the largest ever grown in our section. Both corn and cotton will yield much larger than last year and the price of cotton will be quite as high as then. —— Some publicity through the press has been given to the report that the Carolina Northern Railroad has been purchased by the Seaboard Air Line and that the formal transfer would take place the 15th of this month. It is also reported that the road will be extended at once to Charleston, S. C., and to Fayetteville. —— Mr. L. C. Williams, of Saddle Tree, is the champion watermelon raiser of the county. Last week he gathered one on his farm which was twenty-two inches long, forty and one-half inches in circumference and weighed seventy pounds.

— Greensboro Record: "There is too much prosperity in this country," said Mr. Issac Prosser, manager of the Empire Steel and Iron Works of this place, "at least, I am having a great deal of trouble in securing material for the work of remodelling the furnace. Every plant in the country is behind with orders and I have had to beg and almost steal to get enough to keep a few hands going. However, I hope to get the furnace in blast by September 1st, though we are greatly behind with everything. I have spent the best part of my life in the business," said Mr. Prosser, "but I want to say I never saw a finer deposit of brown ores than are to be found at Wilsom Mill on which the company has a ten-year lease. It is about a hundred miles from Greensboro, but a track is being put in leadright into the mine and as soon as it is completed we shall begin to ship in ores to the works. The Southern, however, is having trouble in securing iron. It is very scarce, but the officials are stirring around getting some at one place, some at another and we hope to have the track ready for use before very long." —— The discovery of platinum in Rockingham county is creating considerable interest. Mr. Z. V. Gwynn has just refused an offer off $15,000 for his farm near Ruffin. It is claimed that this farm has a vein of earth rich with plantinum and that Mr. Gwynn will make a fortune if he holds it Northern speculators are trying to buy the land.

— Monroe Enquirer: Very few people are turning out to hear the candidates on their canvass of the county and about one-fourth of the candidates are making the canvass. At Unionville Wednesday there were seven candidates and five others at the speaking. —— Eli McCorkle, a colored convict, escaped from the convict camp, three miles south of town, last Monday afternoon. The escaped convict has rheumatism and was unable to work. He was pursued by Superintendent B. T. Fletcher, but the heavy rain, which fell Monday afternoon while the chase was on, made it impossible to trail the fleeing man. McCorkle is heavy built and is very black and limps in walking. A reward of $10 is offered for his capture. —— Mr. Richard Shute, of Monroe, was killed on the Carolina Central railroad, about two miles west of here, last Thursday night by the east-bound passenger train which reaches Monroe at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Frank Cook, who lives about three miles from here, was going home and was walking on the railroad, and discovered the body about 9 o'clock. When found Mr. Shute was laying by the side of the track with his head split open and his brains scattered along the track, and with an arm broken in two places. The supposition is that Mr. Shute had fallen asleep with his head between two crossties and he did not wake until the engine had passed over him, but started to get up just as the front box on the tender struck his head and crushed it. Engineer Misheimer was on the engine and Mr. S. H. Green was conductor of the train, but neither of them were aware of the accident until the news was brought here that a man had been found dead on the track.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Calamity overtook the bulls in the provisions pit to-day. The down hill course of all grains during the week and especially the precipitous decline in corn, had taken all the faith from holders in all the speculative pits. As further argument against the bulls corn broke again early in the day. This was too much for the provision crowd and an avalanche of stop loss selling orders swamped the pit. Pork made the greatest break, 80c., but other products kept company. While a stampede was working havoc in provisions the grain crowds came to the belief that bottom prices had been reached. Covering on a tremendous scale took place. Corn shorts covered by the millions. The bearish conditions of weather and fine crops worked against a rally, but in the end everything on the floor reacted. September corn closed ¼c@¼c up; September wheat a shade lower and September oats ¼c down. Provisions closed 7½c to 15c lower.

HICAGO, August 9.—Cash prices: Flour easy. Wheat—No. 2 spring 72c; No. 3 spring 67@71c; No. 2 red 68¾@69½c. Corn—No. 2, 58¼c; No. 2 yellow —c. Oats—No. 2, 28¼@30c; No. 2 white —c; No. 3 white 33@45c. A BOTTLE OF STUART'S GIN AND BUCHU

Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Rheumatism, Etc.—Deep-seated Cases a Specialty.

Send no money; simply write and try Stuart's Gin and Buchu at our expense. A personal trial is better than a thousand printed testimonials.

Death soon follows from diseased kidneys unless a cure is made by taking the old, reliable Stuart's Gin and Buchu. The following symptoms indicate the approach of Bright's disease or diabetes and kidney trouble: Puffy or dark circles under the eye; sallow, yellow complexion; dull, heavy headaches; dizzy, tired feeling; faint spells; pain or dull ache in the back; urine cloudy, milk-like or stringy, dark in color or offensive; painful, scalding sensation in passing urine; obliged to go often during the day or night. There is a cure in Stuart's Gin and Buchu. It is the one remedy you can rely on. It will correct all these symptoms and permanently cure even Bright's disease after all other treatments fail. Stuart's Gin and Buchu will neutralize the urine and cause it to flow in a perfectly natural manner, thus carrying out of the kidneys all the impurities which are the direct cause of much ill health. A high grade kidney cure. The most perfect made. Stuart's Gin and Buchu thoroughly tested for past 30 years. It gives life, power, and vigor to the kidneys, thus making the blood red and nourishing. It will cure the worst form of rheumatism. Try this grand old remedy. Druggists or by express, prepaid, $1. It cures where all else fails. To prove it cures we have set aside 15,000 bottles to give away to sufferers. A sample bottle of Stuart's Gin and Buchu sent free by writing Stuart's Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga. Don't hesitate to write for a bottle, as there are no conditions. A request on a postal card will do. So write now while you think of it.

THE STORY OF A WITCH

[Original.]

Did you never hear of Anne Hollwell, the witch of Salem? No? It's an odd story. My grandfather gave it to my father, and my father gave it to me. What possessed the people of those days is a wonder to all of us now. I've thought that the devil planted the superstition in them for his own purposes, but I, being a Scotch Presbyterian, am myself accounted a bit cranky in my religious notions.

Anne Holliwell when she was eighteen years old was accused of witchcraft. Mark Spooner, a big, strong fellow, wanted to marry her, but he was a wicked one—they said he had secret meetings with Satan at midnight in the wood—and Anne would have nothing to do with him. Moreover, she loved Joel Hallitt, son of Deacon Hallitt, who went off with the Roger Williams people. Joel was the reverse of Spooner, being a small, pale looking young man, but with a very intellectual countenance. He was not in favor with the congregation, however, because he openly denied the right of the church to burn out a woman's tongue with a redhot iron. Indeed, so great was the indignation against his heretical protest that Joel came near paying the penalty of his rashness with his life.

Now, I am not going to vouch for what I intend to tell you. I'll give it as I got it from others and their interpretation of it. If you choose to take different views concerning it, I shall have no objection.

Anne Holliwell was accused, as I have said, of witchcraft. My grandfather used to say that Mark Spooner was at the bottom of the accusation with a view to getting Anne into his power, but this was not current at the time. However this be, Anne was tried and sentenced to be burned. When the fagots were prepared and Anne was being bound to the stake, a tall man stepped out of a wood nearby and advanced to the party. He wore a purple doublet, bordered with red, and red hose, while on his head was a conical hat with a single feather in it. There was something so singular in his appearance that the people turned from Anne Holliwell, the stake and the fagots to look at him.

"What do you with the wench?" asked the stranger.

"We're going to burn her. She's a witch."

"A witch?" The speaker threw back his head and, displaying white, pointed teeth, gave a laugh. At first it was a simple ironical ha! ha! Then it had the ring of a trumpet in it. Then came back an echo, though there was no eminence or cliff to send it.

"Who are you?" asked one of the pillars of the church who were conducting the execution. "You strangely resemble Mark Spooner, but you are not Mark Spooner, for Mark is but twenty-five, while you—you may be young or you may be old."

"No matter who I am, I have come for the wench."

"Stand off!" cried several of the most pious men present, who had no mind that the Lord's will should be interfered with, but the stranger, drawing his sword, stepped up to Anne Holliwell and, cutting the cords, led her away toward the wood. Some said that sparks were seen to fly from the point of the sword, some that his face suddenly from being quite handsome became so demoniacal that every man gave way instinctively before him. As for Anne, from the first she shrank away from him, but he took her by the wrist, and, though he seemed to make no exertion, he dragged her away from the fagots, after which she walked beside him passively, as though under a spell. In this way he took her to the edge of the wood, where the two disappeared, no one daring to follow.

An hour later Anne Holliwell, accompanied by Joel Hallitt, came back into the town. She was not further molested by the people. It was not generally known why, though the master of ceremonies who was to have presided at her execution, after a long interview with her, gave out that she could not have been a witch because the devil had tried to rescue her and had failed. My grandfather claimed to have got the story of what happened after she disappeared with the stranger from one of her children.

Joel Hallitt on the night before the expected execution, instead of giving way to his grief, spent the hours on his knees praying that the people might be absolved from the superstitions of witchcraft and persecution. When the hour of the execution came, he was seized with an impulse to go and save the girl. Seeing a sword standing in the corner whose hilt was shaped like a cross, he seized it and sallied forth. His course lay through the wood, and after entering it he met the stranger, leading Anne. Approaching them, he asked whither they were going. Anne gave her lover an appealing look, and the man glared at him with such a demoniacal countenance that Joel instinctively held up the sword in his hand between himself and the stranger. Whether it was the cross on the hilt or an angelic expression that Anne afterward declared appeared on Joel's countenance, the stranger drew back and, crouching, slowly shrank away. Joel, now believing that power had been given him in answer to his prayer to save Anne, still holding up the dagger, drove the stranger to the thickest part of the wood, where he disappeared.

My father always said that my grandfather believed that Mark Spooner arranged with the devil to get Anne Holliwell for him in return for his own soul.

ARTHUR CHESTER LOVERING.

Weevil In Beans.

The bean weevil does considerable injury in many sections of the country. It does not seem to be generally known that these pests will develop brood after brood in stored beans, so that while only a few beans may be affected when the crop is stored away in the fall by the next summer, especially if the beans are kept in a warm room they may practically all be injured. To prevent this the best method seems to be the inclosing of the beans in a tight vessel in which a little bisulphide of carbon, benzine or gasoline is placed, taking care, of course, to prevent explosion through contact with fire. Simply keeping the beans in a cold place during the winter will tend to lessen the multiplication of the pests. Late sowing also appears to lessen the chances of injury to the crop.

THE BEAN WEEVIL.

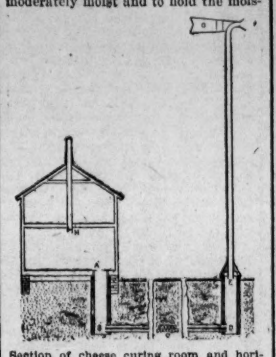
CHEESE CURING.

Suggestions to Cheese Makers and Handlers—A Curing Room.

From experiments made with great care in the cheese curing rooms of the New York agricultural station it appears very desirable that cheese makers and handlers should give careful attention to several points in order to secure advantages due to a proper amount of moisture in the cured cheese.

First, it is better to make cheese only moderately moist and to hold the moisture in curing rather than to make a moist cheese and let it dry out rapidly; second, when market conditions do not demand cheese of fixed size or shape it will be advantageous to make moderately large cheeses; third, provision should be made to keep the air in the curing room well saturated with moisture; fourth and most important, cheese should be cured at a low temperature.



Section of cheese curing room and horizontal multiple subearth duct. A, inlet to curing room; B, end of subearth duct to bricked entrance to factory; C, cross section of the multiple ducts; D, E, bricked entrance under funnel at outer end of subearth duct; F, funnel with mouth thirty-six inches across; G, vane to hold funnel to the wind; H, ventilating flue with damper.

The first two points just mentioned relate to the manufacture and can be controlled by the maker. The third point, a moist atmosphere in the curing room, can be secured in several ways. In the station curing rooms yard wide pieces of felt are used to give a large evaporating surface. These are suspended in the rooms, dipping at the top into troughs filled with water and hanging over similar troughs at the bottom. The felt sucks up the water as a lamp wick does oil and thus keeps a large surface giving off moisture. Any excess drips into the bottom trough. The air is kept as nearly as possible at 75 per cent of saturation, the percentage being determined by a hygrometer.

Central curing rooms are eminently practicable and probably afford the best solutions of the problem where there are many factories within a moderate distance from any center. When factories cannot co-operate, a special curing room should be provided in each. Any such room, no matter how ventilated or cooled, should provide as far as possible for shutting out heat by double walls, air spaces, sawdust filling, sheathing paper, small windows and refrigerator style doors. It should, if possible, be placed on the north side of some other building and shut off on the other three sides by hallways, stairways, other rooms or by building screens. It should be provided with a ventilator in the ceiling, and some means should be adopted for introducing fresh air which has been cooled by passing some distance under ground, through cold water or over ice. The construction of one form of subearth duct for cooling the air is shown in the cut.

SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10

CIVIL WAR IN HAYTI.

Salnave Defeated the Troops Under Gen. Nord, Inflicting Great Loss—Attack on Cape Haytien Expected.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

CAPE HAYTIEN, HAYTI, August 9.—General Albert Salnave, commandant of the Artibonite Firminist troops, has completely defeated the army of the provisional government under General Alexis Nord at Limbe, capturing General Nord's cannons and munitions of war. Many of General Nord's soldiers were killed and a great number taken prisoners. General Salnave continues his march on Cape Haytien, an attack on which is hourly expected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Navy Department to-day received the following cablegram from Commander McCrea of the gunboat Machias, dated Cape Haytien, August 9th:

"Haytien gunboat landed force at Cape Haytien on Friday afternoon. An engagement is hourly expected. Will be ready to land."

Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling to day sent the following cablegram to Commander McCrea of the Machias:

"Your actions are approved. Cutting cable or interference with other than Haytien interests not to be permitted."

IRISH NATIONALISTS.

Protest Against the Usurpation of Irish Government by King Edward.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

DUBLIN, August 9.—At a meeting of the Irish Nationalist Parliamentary party, held in the city hall here to-day, Jno. Redmond, who occupied the chair, said the party as a party had formally withdrawn from participation in the coronation celebration and had assembled for the purpose of protesting against the usurpation of Irish government by England. King Edward, he added, was not the constitutional monarch of Ireland. No English sovereign had been so since the union.

A resolution, which was adopted declared that "Ireland separates herself from the coronation rejoicing of her merciless oppressors and stands apart in her rightful discontent and disaffection."

John Dillon said England was unable to drag Ireland as a willing slave behind her in the triumphal march through London streets to-day.

FOUR MEN INJURED.

Explosion of Several Cases of Percussion Caps in a Freight Car.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT NEWS, August 9.—Four men were seriously injured by the explosion of several large cases of percussion caps in a car at the Chesapeake and Ohio freight depot here this afternoon.

The injured are: W. J. Cannon, loading clerk, and three negro laborers, James Washington, John Taylor and Frank Ashe. Taylor is the most seriously injured, one of his eyes having been blown out. The others are badly burned about the arms, face and neck; but all will recover. The men were loading a car with ammunition consigned to points in the West when the explosion occurred, the exact cause of which is unknown. The car was badly wrecked. The injured men were removed to a hospital.

IN THE COAL REGIONS.

Warrants Issued for Arrest of Strikers Charged With Rioting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 9.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of thirty-one striking miners at Kingston, Luzerneborough and Edwardsville, charged with rioting while doing picket duty in the vicinity of the Woodward Breaker of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Company's colliery. It is alleged that the strikers intimidated men who wanted to go to work and turned them back by force.

Four men are now in the county jail charged with murder of Daniel Sweeney, the mine watchman who was found dead in the roadway at Nanticoke last Wednesday morning.

CARRIAGES AND WAGONS.

Census Bureau's Report on the Capital Invested in Manufacture.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Census Bureau of to-day issued a report on the manufacture of carriages and wagons for the census year ending May 31st, 1900. The report shows a capital of $118,187,838 invested in this industry in the 7,632 establishments reporting for the United States. The statistics show that the trend of the industry is toward the central States where land is cheaper, and suitable lumber abundant. Rapid development of the industry is seen in North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

NOT IN NEWBERN.

The Case of Smallpox in a Postoffice Building is at Havelock, N. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—It developed to-day that the case of smallpox in a postoffice building in North Carolina exists at Havelock, and not at Newbern, as stated yesterday. The postmaster at Havelock, Jno. I. Russell, has a serious case of smallpox.

Railway mail officials have ordered that all mails from there be fumigated and the supplies at the office have been ordered destroyed after an accounting has been made.

MAN SUSPECTED MISSING.

Son of One of the Murdered Women Believed to Be Still in the City—No Apparent Motive for Killing.

A Man Stabbed to Death.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, August 9.—With a jagged wound in the left temple and physical evidence that she had been strangled or smothered, the almost nude body of Mrs. Annie Bartholin was found this evening buried beneath the cellar floor of the house in which she lived at 4310 Calumet avenue. Coincident with the finding of the body the police redoubled their efforts to find the missing son, Wm. Bartholin, who is also suspected of the murder of Miss Minnie Mitchell, whose body was found in a lot at 74th and State streets last Thursday evening. The police have evidence that Bartholin slept in the house on Calumet last Tuesday night, three weeks after his mother had been murdered and six days after he is supposed to have killed Minnie Mitchell. He is believed to be still in the city.

The body of Mrs. Bartholin was found by a party of newspaper men, after the police had searched the house and had concluded that if the woman had been murdered her body was concealed somewhere away from the residence.

A crowbar, apparently stained with blood and a hatchet which bore dark marks were found in the basement. To-night some one found a small crevice in the cement floor, indicating that the cement had been disturbed and then skilfully patched. The cement was broken away and under a bed of white sand was found a dress skirt and other articles of woman's wear. When these had been removed the body of the woman was found. It was wrapped in a blanket and practically was without clothing, there being only a stocking on the left foot and a corset cover around the chest.

From the appearance of the body it was believed that Mrs. Bartholin was struck down either while disrobing for the night or when dressing in the morning.

The body was removed to an undertaking establishment, where the coroner's inquest will be held on Monday.

There is no apparent motive for the killing of Miss Bartholin or of Minnie Mitchell. The theory that finds most favor at present is that the young man, being in debt, killed his mother in order that her equity in the mortgaged property might revert to him.

Stabbed to Death.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Walter A. Scott, president of the Illinois Wire Company, was stabbed to death in the Monadnock building to day by Walter L. Stebbings, a civil and consulting engineer, with offices in the same building. Stebbings used a paper knife, stabbing Scott twice.

The stabbing occurred in Scott's private office, Mr. Stebbings had done some work for the Illinois Wire Company over which there had been some dispute. The two had a quarrel, and Stebbings, it is said, called Scott a liar. There was a scuffle, and the two burst from the private office with blood flowing from Scott's wounds. Stebbings made no attempt to escape.

Stebbings, when arrested, said he had struck Scott in self defence and that he had not intended injuring him seriously. The fight was witnessed by Miss Myrtle Shumate, a stenographer in Scott's office. According to Miss Shumate's story the two men were in Scott's private office for nearly an hour, disputing over a claim for $3,000. Suddenly the door was thrown open and the men staggered into the outer office, kicking each other and using their fists. Stebbings held the long steel paper-knife in his right hand and the weapon could be seen flashing as the men struggled. Stebbings struck Scott in the body. The blow was repeated a moment later. Scott staggered backward and finally fell to the floor. He died within half an hour.

Mr. Scott was 43 years of age and lived at the Virginia Hotel. He leaves a widow and one son who are at present in the East. He was reputed to be a millionaire.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

Mark Hanna's Address to an Audience of Ten Thousand.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHAUTAUQUA, Aug. 9.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna addressed an audience of ten thousand persons at Chautauqua to-day upon "Labor and Capital." He said:

"As long as labor was in a situation that it must submit, it did so, but in the twentieth century, when thinking men began to think seriously upon this question, they made up their minds that they must give consideration to the fact that the laboring man is entitled to a greater share of the products of industry than he had enjoyed in the past. We must give them a larger share of the profits of industry which they helped to create.

"We must forget the idea that there are any classes in our government; we must forget that there is any difference between the man who labors with his hands and the man who labors with his brain. We must strive to bring the different factions together, upon the ground that both sides want to do what is right. It is a fact that more than fifty per cent. of the strikes in this country have been settled in favor of the laborers. We must concede then that they are right in the majority of cases and that capital is wrong."

FIRE IN NEW YORK CITY.

Warehouse Stored With Jute and Glucose Burned—Loss $200,000.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—One of the warehouses of the National Storage Company was destroyed by fire to day. It was in a particularly inaccessible district, but what apparatus succeeded in reaching the place was used successfully in keeping the flames from the other immense warehouses of the company. The building burned was stored with jute and glucose. Loss placed at $200,000.

Ten thousand persons saw the fast trotter Lord Derby (2:06¼) who defeated Thomas W. Lawson's Boralma for the $40,000 stake a week ago at Hartford, in turn yesterday defeated by a mare with a much slower mark. The trotter that performed the feat was the bay mare Louise Jefferson (2:17½). She belongs to C. M. K. Billings of Chicago. She won by a good length in 2:09¼.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON'S ADDRESS AT ATLANTA, GA.

Before the Negro People's Christian and Educational Congress—Education of the Race His Theme.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

ATLANTA, GA., August 9.—The general theme of to-day's sessions of the Negro Young People's Christian and Educational Congress was "The Educational Life of the Race." Interest centered in the address of Booker T. Washington, which was delivered at the morning session of the conference. Rev. Dr. I. B. Scott, of New Orleans, presided and introduced Professor Washington, who was greeted with generous applause. The subject of Professor Washington's address was, "The Contribution of the South to the Education of the Race."

In introducing his address, Prof. Washington stated that it must be borne in mind that the negro was brought here by physical force and that he should have a claim upon the sympathy and helpful kindness of the people of all parts of the country. The negro race, Professor Washington stated, had ever striven to prove itself of service and not a burden, and he cited the fact that few colored beggars are seen.

"While we have been of service to this country," he continued, "we have obtained much, both in slavery and freedom that has fitted us for the duties of useful citizenship."

Professor Washington then cited several instances to illustrate the degree in which the negro responds to outside influences, telling of two negro townships in Alabama, one of which had not been helped or reached by outside influences and the other which had been given the advantages of education and proper training. In the first township the masses of the people were without land, living in one-room cabins with their crops mortgaged and deeply in debt, while ignorance and immorality were in evidence. In the second township were 128 negro homes containing 667 persons, and the negroes are paying taxes on $44,000 worth of property. He further cited facts to prove that the material or industrial betterment of the people had improved their moral and religious condition.

"I want to see an influence go out of this meeting that shall, if possible, take every young negro from off the street corners and from the bar-rooms, North and South. I want to see a lifting up and purifying of the character of our ministers in every part of the country.

"No race can hate another race without being weakened, narrowed and degraded. Let us cultivate friendship and love for all races and individuals, and harbor hatred for none. If others will be little, let us try to be great; if others would hate us, let us try to love them; if others would be cruel to us, let us be merciful; if others would break the law, let us respect it; if others would seek to push us down, let us seek to raise the law. In the long run it is the race that helps to push up that succeeds.

"Finally, let us never grow discouraged. We have made immense progress as a race. Let us remember that the surest protection will be our usefulness to the community in which we live."

Among other speakers of the morning session of the conference were Rev. W. B. Johnson, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. N. C. B. Mason, of Cincinnati; Rev. H. A. Monroe, of Philadelphia, and Rev. W. H. Weaver, of Pittsburg. Separate conferences upon educational subjects were held in the various churches of Atlanta during the afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—U. S. Minister King, at Bangkok, Siam, has informed the Department of State by cable that the Siamese uprising recently reported is spreading, Nakawan having already been captured.

Thirty-four Americans, thought to be in danger, are reported as safe. An endeavor will be made to bring into the capital American women and children now in the zone of disturbance. The Siamese government is co operating in the attempt to protect them.

FIRE AT PITTSBURG.

Loss Over $200,000—Believed to Be of Incendiary Origin.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 10.—Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning fire was discovered on the fifth floor of the Schwarzchild & Sulzeberger packing house, on Liberty avenue. At 1:45 o'clock the building, which is six stories high, is practically a total loss. The building was valued at $150,000, the stock of Schwarzchild & Sulzeber and others at $65,000. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

FAILURE IN NEWARK.

Assignment of J. H. Ballantine, With Liabilities Amounting to $1,885,000.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, N. J., August 9.—J. Herbert Ballantine, of this city, made an assignment to-day to Thomas W. Crooks, president of the Essex County National Bank, and John R. Hardin, a lawyer, for the benefit of the creditors. The liabilities amount to $1,885,000. Mr. Crooks says that the assignment was due to unprofitable investments. He says he is confident that the creditors will be paid dollar for dollar.

THE CORONATION OF KING EDWARD.

London Celebrating the Event for Which the World Has Waited.

CEREMONY WAS IMPRESSIVE.

Carried Out With Perfection of Detail. The Procession—A Vast Concourse of People—Westminster Abbey. The Peers and Peeresses.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra were crowned in Westminister Abbey shortly after noon to-day. Though the ceremony was bereft of some of the elaboration and pagentry originally contemplated, it lacked little in the way of spectacular perfection. The whole ceremonial was of a magnificently decorative character and presented a constantly changing panorama, around the two central figures enthroned in their velvet robes, ermine and cloth of gold amidst the distinguished assemblage of actors, the fulfillment of whose various roles necessitated constant movement. Each stage of the ceremony, with its old world usages, furnished its quota of interest, with the interior of the noble church filled as it was with officiating prelates in various colored capes, with princes and diplomats, officers in gold colored uniforms, with herald, pursuivants and other officers of state in medieval costumes, with peers and peeresses in rich robes, with Oriental potentates in many hued raiment, with men of all types and all shades of complexion from distant points of the new crowned monarch's empire; with its dazzling display of jewels and wealth of color, presented a picture which in its combined brilliancy and distinction has seldom been excelled.

Centres of Interest.

Most of the best positions along the route of the procession were thickly crowded by 8 o'clock and the spectators were furnished with plenty of diversion by the marching and countermarching of the troops, headed by their bands, and quickly passing state coaches, private carriages and automobiles. Buckingham Palace, naturally was one of the principal centres of interest as it was the starting point of the great pagent. Crowds assembled there in immense numbers and the first heavy cheer of the day went up when the news was cried that King Edward was in the best of health and spirits and well equipped to undergo the fatigues of the day.

By 9:30 the scene in the vicinity of the Palace and the Mall was extremely animated. The roofs of the surrounding buildings were crowded with spectators, and the constantly arriving of members of the royal family with their suites and the appearance of the other participants in the procession elicited cheers varying in degree of enthusiasm according to the popularity of the personages recognized by the people. The Duke of Connaught, who rode down the Mall in an auto for the purpose of seeing that the military arrangements along the route were complete, was heartily cheered. Almost as animated was the scene in the vicinity of Westminster Abbey, where bands of music stationed about the building relieved the tedium of the early waiting, and soon after the doors were opened state coaches, carriages and automobiles rattled up in a ceaseless line, the rich apparel of their occupants eliciting hearty approval, which, however, was surpassed by the reception accorded to the men of the Naval Brigade as they marched past at a swinging pace to take up a favored position guarding the route near the Abbey. The colonial premiers and the privy councillors were warmly welcomed, the Figians, in petticoats, were the centre of much interest, and a red Indian chief, in his native costume, feathers and a blanket decorated with the customary mirrors, caused the most lively amusement.

The Royal Procession.

As the hour for the departure of the royal procession approached the exditement about Buckingham Palace was most marked. Punctual to time, the advance guard of the royal cavalcade issued from the archway, the horses of the troopers curvetting nervously as they faced the wall of humanity that cheered their coming. Shortly afterwards came the Prince and Princess of Wales' procession, and finally, within a few minutes their majesties' state coach appeared at the gateway and the King and Queen smiled and bowed in response to the mighty roar of cheers that dwarfted all previous welcomes. The scene in the vicinity was remarkable. On the roof of the palace were perched a number of fashionably dressed ladies, members of the household, and their cheers, with the fluttering of their handkerchiefs as the King and Queen entered the royal coach, gave the signal for the deafening plaudits of the populace which greeted their majesties as they emerged from the gates. The ovation was taken up by the crowds which thronged the Mall and was repeatedly acknowledged by the occupants of the state coach.

The King and Queen.

The King looked pale and rather fine drawn and was by no means as brown and robust as previous reports had led one to expect, and while punctiliously bowing from side to side he did so with a gravity very unusual to him. He seemed to sit rather far back in the carriage and moved his body very little. His curious crimson robes and cap gave him an unusual appearance. The Queen, beside him, was radiant. She never looked better. The cheers which greeted the pair were loud and unmistakably genuine, and very different from the perfunctory applause which usually greets the appearance of members of the royal family.

The progress of the royal cortege was marked by no special incident with the exception of an accident to Lord Edward Pelham Clinton, one of the grooms in waiting. It was a continued triumph and reached its climax on the arrival at the Abbey, where there was a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm which did not cease until their majesties disappeared in the annex. The accident to Lord Pelham Clinton created considerable excitement in the Mall. The groom in waiting, in a closed carriage, was passing York Steps when his conveyance collided with another royal carriage going at high speed in an opposite direction. The horses fell and there appeared to be a bad mix up. The police extricated the teams with some difficulty and Lord Pelham Clinton, who was only slightly hurt, proceeded.

In Westminster Abbey

the doors of that edifice were scarcely opened and the gold sticks and ushers had barely found their stations before the seats began to fill. Peers and peeresses swept up the nave, their scarlet and ermine making vivid contrasts with the deep blue of the carpet. As they arrived before the thrones they separated, the peers going to the right and the peeresses to the left. The peeresses took advantage of the long interval to stroll up and down, but the peers sat stolidly, awaiting the arrival of the sovereign, their ermine caps presenting a solid mass of white.

After 10 o'clock the organ and band played, while the spectators, many of whom showed signs of sleepiness, chatted or swept with their glasses what portions of the Abbey they could see from their seats.

Two or three minutes later came the hoarse cry from the boys of Westminster of "Vivat Rex Edward" with blasts from trumpets. Yet there was another wait. "What has become of the King?" was asked by people who were shut off from sight of the nave. The Queen waited patiently, and then resumed there was another fan fare of trumpets, another chorus of "Vivats" and King Edward appeared and walked to his chair in front of the throne, bowing to the Queen as he passed, and then knelt down in prayer. After removing his somewhat unbecoming cap his majesty stood up and the Archbishop of Canterbury, in a trembling voice, read the "recornation," beginning: "Sirs, I here present to you King Edward, the undoubted King of this realm," etc.

Then there was a hoarse shout and the blending of the choir and the women and men in the city cry, "God Save King Edward!" Several times this was repeated, and the Abbey rang with the loud fan fares. Again the King and Queen knelt and the Archbishop of Canterbury walked to the altar and commenced the communion.

After the archbishop's annointing prayer a gold canopy was brought over the King's chair and his majesty divested himself of his outer robe and then walked to the ancient chair, while the choir sang Zadok's anthem. The annointing ceremony was scarcely seen, owing to the canopy. The spectators were just able to discern the Archbishop of Canterbury's motions.

After the prayer the King donned the colobium sindonis, then resumed his seat, and from a scarlet silken roll on which the prayers were printed in large type and which was held by the Dean of Westminster, the Archbishop of Canterbury read the prayers and delivered the sword to the King, who did not go to the altar, the sword being taken to him by the Dean of Westminster while his majesty remained standing.

The King Crowned.

The armilla and orb were then delivered to the the King, according to the programme. When the King held out his hand for the ring the Archbishop of Canterbury had difficulty in finding it, but finally, with trembling hands, he placed it on the tip of his majesty's finger, reading the prayers simultaneous, the King himself completing the process of putting on the ring as he withdrew his hand. Later, the archbishop had similar difficulty, owing to near sightedness, in placing the crown on the King's head. In fact the choir started "God Save the King" while the Archbishop of Canterbury was still striving to place the crown on the ruler's head, and a great shout went up and the electric lights were turned on.

As the acclamations died away the clanging of the joy bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the Abbey, where the King still sat, motionless, his dazzling crown on his head and his sceptre held firmly in his hand.

After singing "Be strong and play the man," and the Bible having been presented, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne where he stood on the dias for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed, the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the archbishop. Having placed the King into his new throne, the archbishop knelt and paid homage, the aged prelate scarcely being able to rise until the King assisted him, and himself raised the archbishop's hand from the steps of the throne. The archbishop, who seemed to be in a faint, had to practically be carried to the altar. The incident created considerable excitement and several prelates rushed forward to help the primate.

While the gospel was being read the King stood erect, supported on each side by the bishops in their heavily embroidered capes. In the singing of the creed all the members of the royal family turned eastward. Both King Edward and Queen Alexander followed the service carefully, frequently looking at the copies of the service which they held in their hands.

The Oath Administered.

The administration of the oath followed. Standing before the King's chair, the archbishop asked: "Sir, is your majesty willing to take the oath?"

The King answered in firm, strong tones: "I am willing," etc., his replies being easily heard high up in the triforum near the roof. Then the inkstand was brought and the King signed the oath. He did not advance to the altar but sat in the chair he had occupied since the service began. While the choir sang "Come Holy Ghost, our Souls Inspire," the King remained seated and the Queen stood up.

Queen Alexandra.

The Queen then rose, and, accompanied by her entourage, proceeded to the altar steps, where, under a pall of gold, she was quickly crowned by the Archbishop of York, supported by the bishops. She was then led to the throne beside that in which the King sat and her enthronization was accomplished. The Queen bowed to King Edward and both walked to the altar and received the communion, after delivering their crowns to the Lord Great Chamberlain and another officer who appeard to hold them. The pages, while their majesties knelt, still held the Queen's long train with the rest of the nobles present kneeling. The whole spectacle was most impressive and was made more brilliant owing to the electric lights.

By a great effort the Archbishop of Canterbury was enabled to conclude the service and the King and Queen repaired to St. Edward's chapel. Neither of their majesties returned to their thrones after the communion, but remained at the altar. The service, which was completed with the singing of the Te Deum, was brought to a close without a hitch. The King exhibited no outward traces of fatigue.

Encouragement.

"Do you candidly think that my voice will ever be of any use to me?" asked the ambitious vocalist after singing a few samples.

"Certainly I do."

"I am so glad to hear you say that."

"I mean it too. Auctioneers with voices like yours are always in demand."—Detroit Free Press.
